The term "homestyle" can mean different things to different people. To some, it could mean the type of comfort food mom would make after a long day at school: think hearty chicken noodle soup or a flavorful pot roast. To others, it could mean the type of food served family-style at large family gatherings: pastas, salads and such. And to others, it could mean farm-fresh fare brought to the table. Regardless of what you consider "homestyle," Las Vegas' many homestyle restaurants have got you covered.

SAYS...

This 24-hour farm-to-table café in North Las Vegas serves classic American diner favorites with a fresh twist—think skillet scrambles, burgers, meatloaf and chicken fried steak. All dishes are made from scratch, with ingredients hand-picked by executive chef George Jacquez from local farms, including Cowboy Trails Farm, Gilcrease Orchard and The Farm, among others. The interior of the 200-seat diner features an array of cozy booths and table seating, with walls adorned with photos from the providing farms. Full breakfast, lunch and dinner menus are available, with breakfast offered from 6-11 a.m., lunch and dinner available from 11 a.m.-11 p.m. and a moonlight menu served from 11 p.m.-6 a.m.
